Bulk BadCat pasta special for different types of mice

About this item

Mice are pathogenic, dangerous and intelligent rodents that are not easy to deal with. These creatures recognize the smell of human hands and avoid human traps. They are also very careful in the face of new foods that can be bait. Italian experts have prepared a food product called Bad cat from a combination of rat's favorite foods with a very pleasant vanilla scent, the effect of which lasts for 24 hours. Because mice eat other foods during this time, other mice do not recognize which one was bait, so they continue to eat them without suspicion. This food is named pasta according to Italian culture and contains a very small amount of difenacoum and has the lowest amount of toxins. The packaging of bad cat is similar to teabag so that the smell can be easily flow and attract mice. In addition, due to the presence of Bitrex (a very bitter substance) in the formula of this product, it prevents children and other animals from touching it . But mice do not recognize this taste and consume it with appetite.
